

Buying options

Editions

There are 3 editions.

Basic

The 'Basic beige' version with the classic look. And that also the most affordable version. $350

Starlight

The 'Starlight Edition'. It has a transparent case and has built in LED-lights. And software control options for those lights. It is mid priced. - $400

Founders

The 'Founders edition'. It also has transparent case and built in LED-lights. But it has a distinctive gold-yellow colour and a golden coloured keyboard. This is the most expensive version. - $550

Besides the esthetics and the LED-lights are all Commodore 64 Ultimate versions exactly the same.

Commodore 64X

This is not an Ultimate. - It is a 'normal computer' inside a Commodore 64 case. It runs a custom C64 themed Linux distribution. But as being a modern computer you can install also Windows on it. - $550

How to buy

The only place to buy them at present is via the website of Commodore:

- <https://www.commodore.net/category/computers>

If you use this referral link you get $10 off.

- www.commodore.net/referral/wztYNJLk8qln

From:

<https://c64u.org/dokuwiki/> - C64 Ultimate Wiki

Permanent link:

https://c64u.org/dokuwiki/buying_a_commodore_64u?rev=1767654403

Last update: 2026/01/05 23:06

