How to make content for this Wiki

Just do it. The Wiki will grow organically. Pages created. Renamed, split in to separated pages. Maybe moved to an other name space ….

Getting the information in the Wiki is the main focus. Tinkering with it can later always be done.

Just try to not forget that core existence reason of this wiki is to log information about the C64U and useful for C64U users.

More general Commodore 64 can be present but should not be the focus. And if possible if other, decent external sources exist, what is very likely, point to those.

You can do your fitst edits on the PlayGround-page. And the basic makeup information can be found on syntax manual. Chneck-out the row of buttons above the edit window and the right side menu with page options. - With 'Old revisions' you can always undo any mistakes.

Adding more information has the priority. If you do not get the layout or links wright; do not worry. That is fine. - That is an easy fix.

Btw, if someone wishes to organize this wiki and has ideas to get is sorted out…please do. Maybe drop a word below …
